Show and Tell with AOS Faculty

Learn about what our Faculty are doing in their research

AOS faculty across a range of disciplines will show and tell highlights of recent research coming out of their labs. Come hear our faculty regale with tales of wonder and papers worth citing. From the latest on predicting ENSO, to the gory details of modeling atmospheric turbulence, to the wild world of tropical ocean-atmosphere interactions, to a kit-built aircraft surveilling ozone, come away amazed about the wealth and diversity of research in our department. And cookies, too!
